But we preservation: are gratified to know that this class are few in numbers and without influence. The people of Tennessee are honest, and have no more use for the citizen who would defraud a State creditor than the knave who would repudiate a note given to his neighbor for money borrowed in the hour of need. It was recently said, with truth, that repudiation is the most expensive manner in which debts can be paid, whether State, Federal, municipal or individual. A very large portion of our bonded debt is held by subjects of foreign nations, bought direct from the authorired agents of our government. Vattel, in his Laws of Nations, declares one of the just causes of war to be the recovery of debts due from one State to the citizens or subjects of another, Suppose would exceed our present indebtedness, rising young poets of the country: and because our credit had been destroyed, it would have to be defrayed by forced loans and confiscations of property. The truth of the old saying "Put a beggar on horseback and he will ride to the devil" is fully illustrated in the failure of political mendicants who accidently ride into high places. The world knows that U. S. Grant is wholly unfit for the place to which he was elected. He is utterly devoid of statesmanship and the result is he has brought his parhe straddles.
